

Episode 11 - "I'm Not Saying I'm Like Einstein"

Conquista Tribe - Night 27

As the Conquista tribe returns to camp after Tribal Council, where Marty was voted out, Jill and Jimmy T. feel on the outs, while the others are happy. "Blindsided!" a delighted Alina says aloud. "We blindsided Marty tonight and I'm so stoked," Fabio excitedly recaps. "I'm not as dumb as I look. I'm not saying I'm, like, Einstein, but I'm smart enough to play stupid, man," he continues. "I wanted them to think I'm as unthreatening as possible, and it worked, dude! I'm still here!" Meanwhile, Jill and Jimmy T. don't share Fabio's enthusiastic outlook: "I hate going to Tribal Council," Jill comments. "The last Tribal Council was difficult," Jimmy T. expresses in his confessional. "I tell ya, I'm shocked! Marty was the one that ended up goin' home and it's unfortunate because Marty was my top ally, you know?" "It looks like Benry and Alina went back to the original tribe," he then continues, "and...I don't know; I could be wrong, but...I thought I saw six votes for Marty so...something's not addin' up." Jimmy T. pulls Jill aside to ask her a question: "How many votes did Jeff read out for Fabio?" a puzzled Jimmy T. asks Jill. "I guess three," Jill confusedly replies. Jimmy T. and Jill both say that they voted for Fabio and question Jane's vote. "If I would've known Marty was in danger, I would've given him the idol," Jimmy T. then volunteers. "I need to figure out what's goin' on with Jane," Jimmy T. then tells the camera. "Something's striking me wrong with her." In the dark of night, Jimmy T. questions Jane about her vote at Tribal Council: "I only saw three votes for Fabio, and Marty didn't vote for himself..." Jimmy T. brings up. "Well... there was another vote cause I voted for Fabio," Jane lies. "Jeff didn't read it." Jimmy T. still does not seem convinced and says it's strange. Jane then swears that she voted for Fabio. But in her confessional, she reveals the truth: "I voted for Marty tonight," Jane reveals. "Marty was a master manipulator, okay? But...you know what? He is not better than me," she declares. Jill and Jimmy T. then observe, as Benry and Alina talk with the other former La Flor members: "If Alina and Benry are back with those guys, I'm probably next on the hit list," Jimmy T. tells the camera, "so...I need to do some strategizing and I gotta figure out a plan with the idol."

Conquista Tribe - Day 28

The next morning, Jimmy T. and Jill have a conversation at the water well and Jimmy T. proposes a plan of how to deal with the hidden Immunity Idol. "What about this idea?" he begins. "We tell them that you used the idol when Tyrone was voted off and that's how T.D. went home," Jimmy T. proposes. "So then we'll figure out who their target is at this next vote and one of us'll pull the idol," he continues. "I'm fine with that," Jill agrees to the plan. "I don't know that it'll work," she cautions him, "but...it's worth a try." "Jimmy T. has this idea of trying to trick the other tribe into thinking we don't have an Immunity Idol," Jill summarizes, "but... the problem is Jane. We don't know if we can trust Jane right now, and she's kind of central to the plan." "So do we tell Jane?" Jill poses. Jimmy T. says that they would have to. "She swears she voted for Fabio and it was the vote that Jeff didn't read," Jimmy T. informs her. "I don't know if I believe that," Jill admits. "You know, since Survivor: Nicaragua Fanfic the two tribes merged, Jane has had this black cloud kindof around her," Jimmy T. tells the camera. "I don't know if I trust her as much as I did in the early days of this game, but...I need her on-board with this idol plan, cause we can't have different stories."

Jimmy T. approaches Jane to let her know about the hidden Immunity Idol plan. "I was talkin' to Jill this morning, and...I think the best thing to do with the idol is to tell these kids that Jill played it when Tyrone got voted off so we can blindsides 'em next time." Jane is unsure how to respond. "Nobody's asked me about an idol," she quickly tells him. "I'm just saying, if anybody does ask you or brings it up, the story is Jill played it on Espada and took out Tyrone." "Oh, okay; alright," Jane responds, with little interest. "Jimmy T. has been followin' me like a flippin' gnat this morning," Jane vents to the camera. "He's about as irritatin' as usin' sand paper to wipe your ass. My game plan goin' forward is to stick with these young kids," she then explains, "so...between the six of us, we can vote out Jill and we can vote out Jimmy T."

Later that morning, Fabio and Alina return from treemail and present their tribemates with envelopes containing money. "I think I know what it is," Kelly B. says upon seeing the envelopes. "It looks like an auction!" Fabio excitedly says. Jane cheers and dances excitedly, as she receives her envelope. "I haven't even seen real money in a long time," Jane glows in her confessional. "I'm debatin' on puttin' this right into my pocket cause...I could definitely use $500." The tribe is ecstatic as they anxiously await the opportunity to bid on food items. But Jill and Jimmy T. have a different objective: "We realized that today was the food auction and we were absolutely starving," Jill says in her confessional. "In previous auctions I've seen, there's been some kind of advantage for the next Immunity Challenge, so...I'm just hoping for anything that gives myself or Jimmy T. an edge over these other six." "I would love to eat some food," Jimmy T. claims, "It's been 28 days and it's takin' a toll on me, but you know what? I'm not gonna let that affect my game. I've got eleven days left and...Immunity is far more important."

Reward Challenge - Survivor Auction

The Conquista tribe arrives at the challenge and sits on bleachers. Host Jeff Probst welcomes them to the Survivor Auction as he stands behind a podium, gavel in hand. Each of the castaways have been given $500. Bidding will be in increments of $20. There will be no sharing of money or food. Jeff then reminds the tribe that the Auction will end without warning, so if they see something they like they should bid on it. The first item up for bid is a peanut butter and jelly sandwich. Kelly B. wins the item at $180. The next item remains covered, and Benry outbids his tribe with $220. Jeff reveals the item, and to his disappointment, the item is live hermit crabs taken right from their beach. The next item also remains covered, and right off the bat, Fabio starts the bidding at $200, but is outbid by Brenda at a whopping $360. Jeff uncovers the item, which is pasta, meatballs, and garlic bread. The tribe roars with excitement as Brenda returns to the bleachers to enjoy her meal. "This is exactly what I wanted," Brenda relishes, as she enjoys a bite. The next item is revealed to be a significant advantage in the next Immunity Challenge. Jill and Jimmy T. both bid on it, with the former La Flor members showing little interest. Jimmy T. wins the item after bidding all of his $500, denying him any chance for food. Fabio wins the next item, a large, juicy cheeseburger for $400. Jeff offers additional rations of rice, corn, and beans. The first Survivor to bid $100 wins the item for the tribe. Jill offers the $100. Alina wins a slice of apple pie with vanilla ice cream for $340 after outbidding Kelly B. Finally, Fabio wins a beer for his remaining $100. With this, the Survivor Auction is over.

Conquista Tribe - Day 28

As Conquista returns to camp after the Auction, most of the tribe is in high spirits. Kelly B. and Benry thank Jill for winning extra food for the tribe. "The Auction was fun, dude," Fabio excitedly narrates. "I probably did the best out of everyone here! I got a cheeseburger and fries and some alcohol. I'm not drunk, man, but yeah...I got a little buzz from it," he laughs in his confessional. Benry asks Fabio how he's feeling as he climbs into the shelter, and Fabio says that he's still a little woozy. "I can't believe you didn't bid on anything," Fabio then says to Jane. "I got me some money," Jane then laughs. "I'm not feeling too bad, man," Fabio then smiles in his confessional. "I'm feeling pretty satisfied." In the jungle, Jimmy T. and Jill go for a walk to discuss the Auction. "Sorry to oubid ya [on the Immunity advantage]," Jimmy T. begins, "but...you've been having a better showing than I have in these challenges," Jimmy T. says to Jill. "At the Reward Challenge today, I got a significant advantage at the next Immunity Challenge," Jimmy T. recaps in his confessional. "Combined with that, I've got the hidden Immunity Idol, so...if I had to pay $500 to allow me to win a million, hey, that sounds like a good trade to me." He then proposes the plan that as long as one of the two of them can win Immunity, the other one can play the hidden Immunity Idol. "We might have to vote for Jane," Jimmy T. throws out. "Jane or Benry," Jill then says. "But...at least that keeps us here three more days," Jimmy T. rationalizes. "That's not a bad plan," Jill agrees. "So basically, the plan is for either myself or Jimmy T. to win the next Immunity Challenge and the other one of us to have the idol," Jill summarizes. "As far as I'm concerned, Jane's unreliable; she's doin' her own thing, so...we're kindof relying on the idol to shield us from the votes, but...we have to get Immunity or else one of us is going home," she emphasizes.

Conquista Tribe - Day 29

On Day 29, the former La Flor members, consisting of Brenda, Fabio, Alina, Kelly B., and Benry meet in the shelter to discuss who to vote out next. In her confessional, Alina reminds us that she and Benry flipped back over to La Flor at the last Tribal Council, and that Jane wants to go with them to the Final Three, so the next two to go will be Jimmy T. and Jill. "What's going on with Jane? Is she with us?" Brenda then inquires. Benry reports that Jane says she's with them and will vote out Jimmy T. and Jill. "I can see with Jimmy T. already, he's trying to scramble," Benry observes. "He's trying to scramble as much as possible." Fabio says that he'll vote for either of them, and Benry proposes that Jimmy T. should go first. "The plan right now for the La Flor tribe is to vote out Jimmy T.," Brenda explains, "but...he still has the advantage for the Immunity Challenge so...Jill shouldn't feel safe either because if he wins, it's Jill's name going down." The rest of the tribe agrees to voting out Jimmy T. and then Jill. "Jane, she seems like, she really wants to be with the younger tribe," Brenda continues in her confessional, "so...I'll take Jane to Final Six." Brenda then says that, if Jimmy T. doesn't get Immunity, the only other thing they have to worry about is an idol. "Do they even have one?" Fabio asks. Benry says that he wants to find out.

Later that afternoon, Benry and Jimmy T. go out on a fishing trip and Benry asks him if anyone at Espada had the opportunity to find an idol. "Cause...Alina had one at our camp and there haven't been any clues since," Benry tells him. Putting his plan into action, Jimmy T. then recites the story that Jill used the idol and eliminated Tyrone. "Really?" Benry asks him in a surprised tone. "That's the only reason Tyrone got voted out," Jimmy T. lies. "He was in my alliance with Marty and Jane, and...Jill was the one that was on the chopping block." Benry still is not convinced of this new revelation: "Tyrone never mentioned that [on Redemption Island]," he follows up. "Well...I don't know why," Jimmy T. then replies. "You can ask Jill about it," he says, before changing the subject and starting some 'fishing' talk. Benry sees right through Jimmy T.'s strategy: "Jimmy T.'s trying to be sneaky and make me think that there's no Espada idol still in the game, but...to be honest, the guy couldn't strategize his way out of a wet paper bag," Benry tells the camera. "He's not even that great a fisherman. You know, this is who America voted onto the show?" he then questions.

Conquista Tribe - Day 30

On the morning of Day 30, Benry and Alina have a conversation on the beach with Jane and Benry says he wants to ask her something. "I know you'll tell me the truth," Benry says to Jane. "I will," she promises. Benry recounts Jimmy T.'s story of how Jill supposedly used the idol back when Tyrone was voted off. "That is a bunch of <censored>," Jane immediately shuts it down. "You want the truth, you come to Jane," Benry comments aloud. "So what's the real story? he then asks. "Jimmy T. has the idol," Jane divulges. "Jimmy T.'s lying straight to my face," Benry states in his confessional. "You know, that's a good way to get yourself sent home out here." "We need to vote those two off," Jane tells Alina and Benry. Benry says that them having the idol is going to complicate things. "Well...we can't let them get Immunity," Jane then insists. "As long as neither of them has Immunity, we just split votes, right?" Benry asks. Jane says that if the challenge is anything to do with using her hands, she'll do well because she lifts 80 pound dogs. Alina says she has a feeling the challenge is going to be endurance again. "I'm not gonna get down for nothin'," Jane proclaims. Benry says that he's not going to get down either. "Then we're gonna have a battle today," she laughs.

Immunity Challenge - Splash Back

Host Jeff Probst explains the rules of the challenge. Each castaway will stand on a very small platform over the water. They will lean back holding a rope. Every five minutes they will move their hands further down the rope making it more difficult. When they can't hold on any longer, they will fall in the water and be out of the challenge. Last person left standing wins Immunity and is guaranteed a one in seven chance at a million dollars. At the Auction, Jimmy T. won a significant advantage in the challenge. Jeff Probst instructs him to open the bottle and read the note. The note reveals that at any time during the challenge, Jimmy T. can move up two knots on the rope, which will significantly reduce the tension and amount of weight he is holding.

Surprisingly, Fabio falls in the water first followed closely by Brenda. Kelly B. struggles and manages to hold on, but is eliminated for touching the part of the rope above the knot. Alina is the next to fall. At the next five-minute mark, Jimmy T. decides to use his advantage and moves his hands up two knots. After showing signs of exertion and hanging in there, the challenge proves too much for Benry, who finally falls. The three oldest players, Jane, Jimmy T., and Jane remain to fight it out. "One of us needs this, Jane," Jimmy T. attempts to communicate, but Jane isn't interested. The three remaining move their hands down to the next notch of the rope as they reach the next five-minute mark. For Jill and Jane, there are no more knots. "Come on, Jane," Brenda encourages her ally. "I did notice some of the younger people, you know, kind of cheering on Jane and I thought that was strange," Jill narrates. "It just emphasizes that she can't be trusted and Jimmy or I need to win the challenge." But despite his advantage, Jimmy T. falls in the water next, leaving only rivals Jane and Jill to fight it out. "Oh, it was gut-wrenching, letting go of that rope and leavin' Jill up there to go against Jane, especially when I had an advantage," Jimmy T. laments. "It's not a fair fight. You know, Jane has all these guys in her corner <A view of the eliminated former La Flor members is shown> and I'm the only one rootin' for Jill." As the battle continues, the younger Conquista members continue to pull for Jane, while Jimmy T. loudly cheers for Jill, annoying his tribe. "You're yelling right in my ear," Kelly B. tells him, as she moves her head away. Meanwhile, the two oldest women in the game continue to fight it out. In the end, Jane stays on longer and wins individual Immunity. "Why do you think they were cheering for you?!" Jimmy T. asks, taking away from Jane's moment of glory. "There's no way in hell I was gonna drop out of that challenge today," Jane gloats in her confessional. "Jill has been my enemy in this game since Day 3, and...Jimmy T.'s annoyin' the <censored> out of me, okay? So...I'll be smilin' from ear to ear tonight to vote one of them out," she laughs. Jill then shares her thoughts on her chances of staying: "I wanna be here as long as I can be here," Jill expresses. "I wanna stay and...if it's me going tonight, I'm going down fighting."

Conquista Tribe - Day 30

As Conquista returns to camp, Jane is showered with congratulations on winning a tough challenge. Jane is especially happy that she won immunity and not Jill. "This challenge was a piece of cake for me because every time my hands started to hurt or my arms got tired, I was picturin' Jill falling off the thing and Jeff giving me the necklace," Jane laughs in her confessional. "That was my motivation." As the entire tribe remains congregated around the shelter, Jimmy T. calls out Jane because the La Flor members cheered for her during the challenge. "You know that we didn't want you to win, dude!" Benry speaks up. "So they got to you, huh?"

Survivor: Nicaragua Fanfic

Jimmy T. accuses Jane, and she acts like she doesn't know what he's talking about. "I'm telling you, something's not right, Jane," Jimmy T. insists. "You're with them now?" he questions her. "No, I'm not with them," Jane denies the accusation. "I needed Immunity just as much as y'all did," she claims. "She's not with us," Brenda adds in to help Jane out. "The only reason they were rootin' for me cause they knew my daughter was gonna be watchin'," Jane lies. Jill doesn't buy it. "My family's watchin' too," Jimmy T. shoots back. "Nobody cheered for us the whole time," Jill says. Benry then chimes in that, after seeing Jane's strong performance, she probably would have been voted off as the biggest threat if she didn't win. "This is just...it's not makin' sense to me," Jimmy T. then says confusedly.

Later, as the confrontation sizzles out, Jill and Jimmy T. are alone in the shelter together and Jill feels defeated for the first time. "It's alright; it's not the end of the world," Jimmy T. tries to cheer her up. "The Immunity Challenge was a huge letdown," a disappointed Jill explains in her confessional. "Losing to Jane definitely rubs salt in the wound a little bit because either Jimmy or I needed to win Immunity today." "I should've given you the advantage," Jimmy T. admits. "Well...we can't worry about that now," Jill concedes. "You might have won," he tells her. "So now we have to figure out a way to dig ourselves out of this hole," Jill finishes her confessional. Jill and Jimmy T. continue to contemplate potential scenarios: "If they vote for one of us, fine; we have a chance with the idol, but...if they split their votes, we're basically defeated," Jill tells him. "Unless we can convince Jane to vote for Benry." Trying anything to stay, Jimmy T. and Jill approach Jane while she is fishing. The conversation is awkward as Jimmy T. begins an apology and tries to make amends. "I can take some humble pie when I need to. You know I can get a little high-strung sometimes," Jimmy T. justifies the earlier argument to Jane. "I'm just readin' into it too much, I guess," he continues. Jane says that she doesn't want them to have any doubts about her. Jill then asks Jane what she's thinking for the vote. "You tell me who we're gonna vote," Jane says. "Well...it's obvious to me that Benry's the biggest threat," Jill brings up. "So y'all are voting for Benry," Jane poses. "Yes," Jill confirms. "I don't have any faith in Jane," Jill tells the camera. "I personally think she's a wolf in sheep's clothing since Day One out here, but...that's about our only shot."

Jane then immediately goes over to the former La Flor members to fill them in on Jill and Jimmy T.'s plan: "They're gonna vote for you," Jane divulges. "Me?" Benry asks. "Cause you're 'the biggest threat'," Jane confirms, quoting Jill. "And they think I'm with 'em." Benry recaps that Jimmy T. has an idol so they should split their votes between Jill and Jimmy T. "I'll vote for either one," Jane tells them. Alina says that Jane needs her satisfaction of voting for Jill. "I told everyone from La Flor that Jimmy T. has the idol and's votin' Benry," Jane summarizes, "so...we'll let him think that they're votin' for him and then put votes on Jill, so...either way, we're gonna flush the idol and get rid of one of those two tonight." "J.T. [Jimmy T.]" Benry asks Fabio, suggesting that the two of them vote for Jimmy. "That's fine, dude," Fabio agrees and Kelly B. nods her head as well. In his confessional, Benry recaps the plan for the upcoming vote: "It's J.T.'s call who goes home tonight," he explains. "If he plays the idol on himself, Jill'll go home, and...if he gives Jill the idol, he just sent himself home, so...I really don't care that much what happens tonight as long as one of those two goes."

With Tribal Council looming, Jill and Jimmy T. meet one final time to discuss their options with the idol. "I don't know; we maybe made a mistake in telling Jane the plan," Jimmy T. worries. "If they split their votes and Jane's with them, we're in trouble." Jill says that they're already in trouble. "If they know anything about the idol, we know we can't trust Jane," Jimmy T. then continues. "That's for sure." "For one of us, it'll be too late," Jill then reminds him, as Jimmy T. nods his head. "Yep. We might be gettin' hornswaggled here," Jimmy T. tells the camera, "but...I'm pretty scared about tonight. I think I have a pretty good shot of getting the votes, but...uh, so does Jill. It could be Jill going home, so I'm gonna have to read everything that's said at Tribal Council very carefully and decide who to play the idol on."

Tribal Council #12 - Conquista Tribe

At Tribal Council, Jeff begins by pointing out that there are four members on the jury - Tyrone, Shannon, NaOnka, and Marty - and every single one of them has been blindsided. "Yeah," Fabio agrees. "I feel like every Tribal Council from here on out's gonna be a wild card, man." "Let's talk about the Immunity Challenge," Jeff then changes the subject. "The first five people out were the youngest five left. The older people kicked your guys' asses today!" "Yeah; I mean, they may be 20 years older, but they're tough competitors. They've proven that," Benry compliments the former Espada members. "And I think based on the last Tribal Council where Marty went home, you know, they probably sensed they needed to win." Jane now nods her head. Jeff asks Jill if she thinks the younger tribe members maybe didn't try. "I think there might have been a little bit of arrogance from the younger tribe," Jill answers. "Obviously it wasn't do or die for them like it was for us, but...to be completely honest, it was myself or Jimmy T. who needed to win. I don't believe Jane was vulnerable." Jeff then points out that Benry also put up a strong fight. "Brenda, why do you think Benry stayed up there so long if he didn't need Immunity?" he poses. "It's an individual game and he's fighting for himself, so I don't blame him," Brenda answers. Jeff then goes back to Benry and asks him if he thinks he's the biggest threat left in the game. "I guarantee they all see me as a big threat to them," Benry replies. "It's pretty clear, you know, I'm definitely one of the better athletes still in the game, but...when you're running on no food, very little sleep, uh, strength is very minimal right now." Jeff reiterates that Jill mentioned Jimmy T. needed Immunity. "Why might you be on the chopping block?" Jeff asks. "Well, it might be me because I was Marty's right-hand guy," Jimmy T. says. "I think I am seen as a threat here, so...I brought my bag." <He holds up his bag> "So if it was you tonight, not a blindside?" Jeff inquires. "Absolutely not a blindside," Jimmy T. responds. Jeff then asks Benry if he would be surprised if he was him. "I would definitely be a little blindsided if it was me tonight," Benry admits. "Jill, you've been to a lot of Tribal Councils where you thought it could be you," Jeff reminds everyone. "What do you think your chances are tonight?" "I'm a little nervous because I have a 50/50 shot," Jill explains. "It's either gonna be myself or Jimmy T., and...we've tried to play out of it, but...the deck's kindof stacked against us on this one." Finally, Jeff asks what the sense in the tribe is about the hidden Immunity Idol. "There's a couple of different stories going around about the idol," Benry answers. "I'm guessing if there is still an idol in the game we might see it tonight, but...you never know. Stranger things have happened." With this, the Conquista members cast their votes.

Jeff asks if anybody has a hidden Immunity Idol and would like to play it. After a brief moment of hesitation, Jimmy T. stands up and plays the idol for himself. Any votes cast against Jimmy T. will not count. Jeff then tallies the votes and reveals them one at a time to the tribe:

JIMMY T. Does not count.

JIMMY T. Does not count.

Jimmy T. smiles confidently.

BENRY.

JIMMY T. Does not count.

BENRY.

"Two votes Benry," Jeff recaps.

JILL.

Jill smiles knowingly and shakes her head, while Jimmy T.'s expression immediately tenses.

JILL.

"We're tied: two votes Benry; two votes Jill," Jeff now recaps again. "One vote left."

"Twelfth person voted out of Survivor: Nicaragua and the fifth member of our jury..."

JILL.

In a surprising 3-3-2 vote, Jill Behm is sent home after Jimmy T. plays his hidden Immunity Idol. She now joins the jury. Jimmy T. appears to be fuming, while Jane displays a satisfied smirk on her face.

Episode 12 - The Traitor

Jane can no longer deny that she flipped on Espada, which leads to another argument with Jimmy T.

Jimmy T. tries to flip three former La Flor members against one powerful player. Will his plan finally succeed?

And it's another tense and surprising Tribal Council. Whose torch will be snuffed out?
